

You Earned It; now it's Time to Protect it!

One of the defining characteristics of an Irrevocable Private Trust is its "separate juridical personality and identity," which is another way of saying "separate legal identity." By "irrevocably" granting assets into an irrevocable trust, the Grantor legally has no claim of ownership over those assets. "Free and Clear"

Therefore, if the Grantor finds himself facing some future legal claim from a creditor, or another party trying to use his assets as part of a lawsuit, they'll be discouraged to discover that he owns nothing.

One has the lawful right to structure their affairs so that their wife, children, or other trusted party can seamlessly take control over their assets when they die. That's right, zero inheritance tax! The state remains a third party and has no claim or reason to enter your estate into their probate courts. The super-wealthy or one-percenter have leveraged and used trusts toward this end for centuries, so why not you?

How is this done? This is accomplished by naming a Successor Trustee who, rather than "personally" inheriting the wealth of the deceased's estate, becomes the new steward or Trustee of those assets and assumes managerial control over the estate for the benefit of the beneficiaries.

By making this simple change and addition to your life, you will have the power to outline precisely who, what, where, when, why, and how much of your estate can be used by your successor, ensuring the longevity of your generational wealth. It is up to you to decide how things operate, not an Attorney, Judge, Court, or other family members.

As the unhinged corporate, unelected government swells with its greed and power, we are all facing off with varying degrees of uncertainty about the future. Barring a complete and total abolishment of our current legal and financial system, operating a Trust in private can grant you a more controllable level of certainty that nothing else can. This is your chance to insulate you and your family's wealth and shelter liability in a way that will give you superior peace of mind.

Team ALL Trust can help you establish your own Private, Non-statutory, Charitable, Irrevocable Trust today and begin a life of freedom!

<http://www.teamalltrust.com>